'The world's largest #solarpower plant installed on the #rooftop of a shopping mall has been switched on by Gokongwei-led property developer Robinsons Land Corp. in its sprawling shopping hub in San Fernando, #Pampanga.

The 2.88-megawatt solar plant atop Robinsons Starmills was inaugurated on Monday, breaking existing records on such a renewable energy generator installed for a shopping mall's own consumption. The facility is seen to cut carbon dioxide emission by 2.25 million kilograms – comparable to the planting of 100,000 trees or removing 5.5 million miles worth of vehicular carbon emissions.'

'From the fifth-floor putting green of #Samsung's Silicon Valley

#headquarters, looking out at a rolling horizon of sun-scorched mountains, it's quite easy to forget you're at work. An executive is practising tai chi by the cactus garden, while another jiggles in a robotic massage chair nearby. A volleyball match is in full swing in the lush-planted courtyard below, while raucous shrieks of table football emerge from the Chill Zone, next to a row of space-age nap pods. "Meet by the ping-pong tables," reads a sign stuck on the window. "Today's spinning class will be on the terrace! :)"

Ram Singh A significant majority of the uneducated women remain so, as their parents and later on their husbands refuse to get them educated. It has been statistically proven that in families where the woman is well educated, the family size goes down and the health of each family member improves significantly.

Trivia: Back in 1970, Roger Payne released the album Songs of the #Humpback #Whales featuring recordings made off the coast of #Hawaii.

The album spawned the "#SaveTheWhales" movement and helped lead to the 1972 United Nations Conference on the Human Environment under General Secretary U Thant, the first of its kind and precursor to the Kyoto Protocol and the Paris Agreement.

It is also to this day the all-time best-selling environmental album achieving multi-platinum status.
